TO-DAY'S POLICE.
Both Magistrates sat this morning.
Another raid was accomplished against an unlicensed gambling house, yesterday, by Inspector Grey. It appeared from the Inspector's evidence that, about 1 p.m. yesterday, he went with a body of Police, to a house in First Street, where he found a number of Chinese gambling on the first floor. All the usual paraphernalia required to the fascinating game were produced in court. The ten prisoners in doors were the bulk of the players, only three or four having escaped by a bold leap of about 25 feet out of a window.—Lokong 46 stated that he went as the detective, and saw that everybody in the place were gambling—some with cards and others at the famous game of “fan-tan.” The lokong played, and testified to the fact that he had played there before. First prisoner was the head man.—His Worship remarked that it was a clear case. They must go to the Licensed Gambling Houses. First prisoner was the head man; he would fine him $25, in that one month's hard labor, and two months' hard labor. The others were fined $10 each, in default one month's hard labor, and one month's hard labor besides.

The occupants of shops Nos. 144 and 146, Queen's Road Central, were charged with having interfered with a policeman in the exercise of his duty, so that justice was thwarted thereby. It appears that Mr.

Williamson, an inspector of Police, while passing along that road, a Malay was knocked down by a Chinese thief, who used a 7-lb. stone as a cleaver, and, in view of some money. Just as he reached the spot where the wounded man was lying, Sergeant Hawes joined Williamson, and they both gave the thief chase. In front of prisoners shop were some five or six persons, who appeared to stand in the way of the pursuit and hindered the progress of the Sergeant and Williamson, so that they lost the thief, who escaped down Bonham Strand.

In the Sergeant's opinion, this was done on purpose; but unfortunately neither Williamson nor the Sergeant could swear to the identity of the prisoners. The shop alluded to, however, were shut up the moment the incident took place. Both witnesses were positive that the men who witnessed them could have caught the thief, had they chosen so to do.—His Worship remarked severely upon this case. Respectable Chinese residents who enjoyed the protection of the Police ought to be ashamed of themselves for thus neglecting to apprehend a thief who committed so serious an assault under their very nose; and if he (His Worship) could only have obtained the identification of the two men spoken of, he would have most certainly fined them $200 each.

His Worship then told the defendants to go away, that he was very sorry he could not get a satisfactory case against them, and that it would serve them right if they failed to obtain protection from the Police when they required it. Defendants were then told to go away.

A Scotchman named Collin Patterson was charged with having been drunk and with having assaulted Sergeant Footit. It appeared that, prisoner was fighting with another man, when the Sergeant told him he ought to be ashamed of himself; upon which Patterson hit the Sergeant in the shoulder, and tore his clothes. Patterson was fined 10/-, and was ordered to pay $4 as amends for the damage done.

From a further light which seems to have been thrown upon the alleged gold-leaf swindle, it appears that the affair resolved itself more into a debt than a criminal offence. Wong Yung Sang, the Chinaman charged with having fraudulently obtained the gold-leaf ($1,000), who was placed in dock, was informed by the Magistrate that he was very much afraid that Sang was a rascal. Still, the doctor had much better have stuck to his chemist business, and not dabbled in gold leaf. In the present circumstances, he would remand the case till Wednesday, at which time he would order Sang to find security for a certain time.
Sang got into a violent state of excitement; but he was hauled off, bathed in tears, because he could not find $1,000, half the amount required by His Worship.

The Gambling-house, watchman named Cameron, who was remanded on a charge of having stolen a quantity of watches and jewellery from a pawnshop in Queen's Road West, at the scene of the fire, was to-day committed for trial at the next Criminal Session of the Supreme Court. Bail was accepted in $500, owing to the long period which the prisoner would have to wait for trial.

THE NEIGHBOR QUESTION.

Mr N. B. Denys appeared to answer the summons, at the instance of the occupant of one of the houses in Wellington Street the cooking-house of which faces the lane adjoining the China Mail office, for having damaged the chattels of the above occupant.

Mr Francis (for Mr. Gaskell) appeared for the programme.—“Zampa,” Herold,

AN UNFORTUNATE MISTAKE.

A curious freak of delusion, which nearly resulted fatally to two gamblers, was induced by an amateur resident on Saturday night.

Mr James Brooks, an American, who had been confined to his room for some days, it appears addressed two shots to Mr.
Jarman (assistant Superintendent of Police) during Saturday, which, from their rambling nature, led to the conclusion that all was not right. About half-past eight o'clock, therefore, Mr. Jarman, having heard of Brooks' for many years in the Colony, proceeded with a friend to visit the sick man. On reaching the door of the house, some difficulty was found in gaining admission, the servants appearing to have had orders to keep the door fast and allow no one to enter. The door was ultimately opened; however, when the first object which caught the gentleman's attention was Mr Brooks himself, in dishevelled, dis-heavily armed with a pistol and a revolver straight down towards the entrance door. Somewhat taken aback by this reception, Mr.
Jarman and Mr. Thompson, chemist (the gentleman who accompanied the assistant superintendent), called out to Mr. Brooks but were threatened in a most remarkable manner by the latter, who it was now evident was laboring under some terrible delusion or abstraction of the brain. Brooks dared them to advance, and while this parley appears to have been going on, fired a shot which passed close to Mr. Thompson's head, lodged in Mr. Jarman's left shoulder.
Another shot was fired, which no one; and Mr. Thompson then ran for assistance, while Mr. Jarman rushed up and disarmed the temporally insane amateur. Two Police Inspectors were speedily on the spot, and Mr. Brooks (who by this time was nearly caused by the foolish act he had committed) was removed to Hospital, on his way to which the poor man repeatedly expressed his sorrow for having attempted the life of a old friend, Mr. Jarman. Failing Dr. O'Brien, Dr. Kaufmann was at once procured to attend to Mr. Jar-man's wound, but happily it was found to be one of no means a serious nature.
The pistol pellet had entered a little way down among the shoulder muscles, so that considerable difficulty would be experienced in removing it. It was therefore resolved to leave it alone, as no danger whatever was likely to arise from its presence. We learn with regret that Mr. Brooks is not improving in Hospital, and that the feeling that he has injured an acquaintance who was endeavoring to do him good is also pressing upon his mind. It is said that recent misfortunes have had a large share in bringing the poor fellow into his present distressed state.

His Worship said he thought that the complaint had a remedy under Ordinance 8 of 1856 (Building Ordinance), upon which the summons was based; but Mr. Francis replied that summons under that ordinance had to be taken out by a public officer, and was chiefly for their guidance. That the smoke was a nuisance under the common law of England, Mr. Francis (though almost unnecessary) proved from Blackstone's Commentaries, which laid it down that anything which could be done to abate a nuisance was necessary to existence and the enjoyment of a dwelling-house.

of Chinese Words occurring in Charts and Sailing Directions; and also a Table of Positions of places on the Chinese and Japanese Coasts.

The author in his Preface says:—"The tables in Chap. VII., for estimating prices, measurement of goods, exchanges, &c., have been selected from those constantly in use among the foreign merchants in China.

Those for calculating the prices of tea in dollars or pence have been copied from the more extended tables, in the kind permanent of the author, P. Loureiro, Esq. The last section of the same chapter, on "Movements in Britain," has been prepared and furnished for the Guide by Patrick R.

Harper, Esq., of the Commercial Bank of India at Hongkong, who has had much experience in the exchanges and movements of the precious metals in Eastern Asia.

The Appendix of Sailing Directions has been reprinted from the "China Pilot."

With short intermissions, the coasts from Singapore to Hainan are all described in it; and for the Chinese coast, the Directions have been improved by the insertion of the Chinese characters for the names of all places that could be ascertained."
